Data Protection-Confidentiality, Privacy and Access to Pupil Files Policy

This policy is informed by:

1. Education (School Records) Regulations 1989
2. Children Act 1989
3. Data Protection Act 1998
4. Every Child Matters

Each member of staff should be made aware of this policy as part of the Induction process

Confidentiality of Information

In the collection and use of all information regarding pupils at The Beacon, Folkestone, the member of staff will ensure that the information shall be:

- Obtained fairly and lawfully
- Held only for one or more lawful purposes as specified in the agency registration under the Data Protection Act 1984
- Used and disclosed only in accordance with the agency entry on the Data Protection Register
- Adequate, relevant and not excessive for those purposes
- accurate and where necessary up-to-date
- kept no longer than is necessary for the specified purposes
- made available to the child, or his/her parents, on request and subject to access provision
- properly protected against loss or unlawful disclosure.

Disclosure of information concerning a child (or information by which a child can be identified) to an unauthorised person is a breach of confidentiality. Confidentiality may only be breached where it is demonstrably in the child or young person's interests or where there is an overriding concern for the rights of other people, when for example the behaviour of the child may endanger others.

Where appropriate, a member of staff shall make clear to children the extent to which confidentiality will be maintained and the circumstances in which personal information must be disclosed. A member of staff must give due consideration to the contents and implications of the Access to Personal Files Act 1987

In the conduct of any research identifying individual children, a member of staff shall ensure that the child or young person's rights are upheld and their privacy respected and shall, where possible, consult the child and obtain the child or young person's consent/or parental consent to research activity and the publication of any material directly or indirectly identifying the child.

Confidentiality and Child Protection

All staff at The Beacon Folkestone need to be aware of the following definition given to the term “confidential information” with respect to child protection.

‘An obligation assumed by someone who receives information that she/he will only use it for some specified purpose and will not disclose it to others’

Do not promise not to tell anyone else; explain that you have to make sure the child is safe and may need to ask other adults to help you to do this.

NO MEMBER OF STAFF SHOULD OFFER ANY CHILD CONFIDENTIALITY IN MATTERS WHICH COULD OR HAVE AFFECTED THE CHILD’S PHYSICAL, SOCIAL, EMOTIONAL OR SEXUAL WELLBEING

Whilst adhering to the principle of limiting the spread of information to the minimum numbers of people at The Beacon Folkestone, all staff closely involved with a child, for whom there are child protection concerns, should know about the child’s circumstances, as it may affect practical matters such as:

- Who meets the child from school
- Who gives permission to go on outings and educational visits
- Who attends parents’ evenings
- Who should or should not share a room on a trip.

Teachers, teaching assistants, therapy and visiting medical staff may all attend child protection conferences where they are likely to hear detailed information about family circumstances and abusive incidents. They may also receive minutes which record these. Particular care is necessary to maintain the confidentiality of such information whilst ensuring that the issues that may impact upon the child’s school-life are communicated to all relevant staff.

Staff, unless directly asked and supervised, should never raise with a child, information to which they have had access. The child’s or young person’s feelings should be paramount and many prefer staff not to know about traumatic events in their lives.

The importance of discretion in the handling of such information cannot be over-stated. Any infringement of this policy, for example by inappropriate discussion in inappropriate settings or the sharing of confidential information for a purpose not sanctioned by the school will be regarded as a serious breach of professional conduct and would lead to disciplinary action against the members of staff concerned.

Access to Records

All children’s files containing confidential information are held securely within the office

Staff are also asked to read the sections relating to confidentiality in The Beacon Folkestone Child in Need/Child Protection Policy Document, KCC Child in need/child protection procedures and the Intimate Care Policy Document – Guidelines for Good Practice, relating to Privacy.

Staff Conduct

Staff have a duty, in all their interactions, to pay due regard to the right to privacy and respect, ensuring any interactions do not unnecessarily disadvantage or embarrass other parties.

Staff have a duty to ensure that they only discuss pupils or sensitive school related issues with an authorised other person, and that the conversation is private and not within the hearing of others, e.g. other pupils, staff, parents or outsiders to the school. Staff are also expected to be particularly aware of this when offsite or off-duty. Care in this respect should also extend to ensuring that no written documents are left in public view.

N.B. Breach of confidentiality is a disciplinary offence.

Searching Possessions

Where appropriate young people are aware that their possessions may be searched if there are grounds to suspect that:

1. Stolen possessions may be found
2. Illicit possessions may be found
3. Dangerous possessions may be found
4. A failure to do so might put at risk the welfare of the young person or others.

Searches are carried out by two members of staff who sensitively approach this task, maintaining respect for all of the young person's possessions. The young person will be told in advance and be present during the search unless involving them would add further risks to their welfare or that of others.

If staff are still unsure of the callers identify the following reply should be given. "We do not give information about pupils, who may or may not be at this school, as a matter of policy.
