

NAS - New Online Training Module Available from 7th January 2019!

The online training will be focused on supporting autistic people to develop their skills when it comes to finding employment. It is part of the Autism Employment Gap campaign and the module will support with:

- Identifying personal skill set and positive attributes
- Support own understanding of autism, including positive disclosure
- Develop CV writing and job application skills
- Develop interview techniques and strategies
- Develop skills to prepare for the workplace

The course will be available at www.autism.org.uk/onlinetrainig.

The latest Social Stories book by Dr Siobhan Timmins “Successful Social Articles into Adulthood” is now available. It covers maintaining physical health and mental health. In addition to learning about searching for a job and the workplace (compliments the NAS online training!) which can be adapted to include applying for college.
